NEBRASKA SUPREME COURT
Office of Public Information

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE   August 30, 2010

Nebraska's State Probation Administrator, Ellen Fabian Brokofsky, President of the National Association of Probation Executives

Nebraska's State Probation Administrator Ellen Fabian Brokofsky assumed the position of president of the National Association of Probation Executives (NAPE) during its August 2010 annual meeting in Washington, DC.

Currently, Brokofsky is Nebraska's Probation Administrator under the Nebraska Supreme Court's Administrative Office of the Courts and Probation, a position she has held since 2005. Preparation for this prestigious position includes 35 years of experience in juvenile and adult probation, 25 of those years in justice management, a Master's Degree in Management from Bellevue University, a Certification as a Professional Administrator from the National Juvenile Court Services Association and the National Council of Juvenile Court Judges, a Certification in Management from the University of Nebraska College of Business and a Professional License in alcohol and drug counseling. Brokofsky is also serving as Nebraska's Interstate Compact Commissioner and is immediate Past President of the National Juvenile Court Services Association (NJCSA).

Brokofsky's inaugural speech, delivered at NAPE's Annual Awards Breakfast in Washington, DC, focused on the value of probation executives' participation in formal and informal networks as vehicles for sharing cutting-edge information as well as providing for continuous support to leaders faced with providing quality probation supervision in an environment of economic challenges. No state funds were used to support Brokofsky's attendance at the meeting.

Contact: Christie Davidson, Assistant Director
                  Correctional Management Institute of Texas
                  Sam Houston State University
                  George J. Beto Criminal Justice Center
                  Huntsville, Texas 77341-2296
                  phone: 936-294-3757
                  email: davidson@shsu.edu